Systems Research Showcase
Wednesday 24th March 2010

Call for speakers

Are you undertaking postgraduate research with substantive Systems content and would you like to share your research with an interested and experienced audience? If so the Systems Research Showcase may be your opportunity. There are three speaking slots available of approximately half an hour each.

If you are interested in one of these slots then please send us two short paragraphs about your research. The first outlining your research as a whole, the second explaining or expanding on how Systems Engineering is involved. The second paragraph should also be an indication of the focus of your intended talk. The final deadline for this information is midnight on Monday 25th January. We will contact you once we have chosen the three speakers, and not more than a week from this date.

We may use the information you provide to us for advertising this event or on the day, so please indicate any sensitive or confidential information clearly.

More details about attending the event without giving a talk will follow, but for now the key information is:
